FOR THE MISSION.

Immense Mass Meeting to be Held in Union Hall, Sonoma, Tomorrow Evening. Many Prominent Speakers to be Present.

Tomorrow evening in Union Hall here will be a mass meeting to restore our historic old Mission San Francisco De Salano, which was erected in 1824, when California was practically an unknown country and the Spanish Dons ruled our community. Each year the church and its cloister have suffered from the storms and rain and in February the corner shown in the picture crumbled away, leaving a large gap in the main building. Sightseers by the score have commented upon our neglect of this structure and our citizens and the Woman's Improvement Club have at last taken the matter in hand and are making a combined effort to raise funds for at least temporary repairs to this noted building.

Several years ago the Mission San Francisco De Salano was the property of a business man of this place and it was used as a warehouse and consequently kept in repairs. Patriotic persons believing that the historic building should be open to the public and the mission should be public property, raised sufficient funds to purchase the old building, which for many years was the only place of worship in what was the extreme northern frontier. After acquiring the title, the purchasers deeded the historic buildings to the State of California, with the understanding that the state would take care of the property. The legislature while in session the first part of the present governor's term of office passed a bill appropriating $3,500 for the purpose of repairing and restoring the Mission San Francisco De Salano. That amount, at the time would have been sufficient. But the governor, saw fit to veto the bill, saying that the state of California was too poor to repair the property. When the legislature again convened in Sacramento attention was again called to the condition of the mission, and the urgent need of immediate repairs The members of the assembly were disposed to treat the matter favorably, and it thought sufficient money would be appropriated with scarcely any opposition, when the parties that had the matter in charge were informed by the governor that further effort was useless, as he, the governor, would veto any appropriation made for that purpose.

Despite the fact our governor is not patriotic enough to appropriate sufficient funds for this purpose the citizens will join hands in this city to create interest and start a movement toward raising funds—said funds to be used for temporary repairs until the legislature can be reached and we have a governor who has sufficient pride in California and its institutions. To fix this structure up properly will take about $6000, and a noted authority suggests that the main building be repaired and a temperary roof thrown over the cloister. The cloister is in worse condition than the church and unless immediate action is taken both will be things of the past and not only Sonoma, but the entire state will regret their inactivity toward its preservation.

Ye lovers of this mission and ye lovers of the golden state of California vow to lend a helping hand toward this noble cause. Talk nothing but mission, think nothing but mission and tomorrow night attend the mass meeting in Union Hall and listen to such noted speakers as Judge Seawell, of Santa Rosa; Congressman Knowland, of Oakland; Mrs. Laura Bride Powers and Mrs. Goddard.

Miss Poppe's Recital

Miss Amy Poppe, as scheduled in last week's issue, gave her recital in Union Hall to a fairly good sized audience. As we predicted she gave recitations and readings that were laughable and others that were pathetic. In each number she proved herself an ample entertainer and a lady of much talent in her endeavors. She was ably assisted by Miss Helena Clewe, Miss Ida Hartman and Miss Emilie Poppe.

Miss Clewe was the first to sing and held the audience with her well trained voice and mastered the chromatic scale with ease, reaching the higher notes of the piece rendered with as much ease as the lower ones. Miss Waterman was in good voice and also held the attention of the audience with her rich voice, striking each note true, and showing herself an accomplished singer as well.

Miss Emelie Poppe gave an instrumental solo, and judging from the rapidly and ease with which her fingers traveled over the piano and the interpretion she gave we believe her to be an accomplished musician.

Quartaroli's Eldorado Hotel

In another column appears the advertisement of Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartarali, announcing the opening of the new Eldorado hotel. Mr Quartaroli is rushing the unfinished portion of his hotel to completion. On the ground floor will be found the dinning room, parlor, bar room, office, etc, which are large and will be fitted up in fine shape. On the second floor are innumerable bed rooms, all of which are large, outside rooms. Sanitary plumbing is now being installed throughout the building and electricians are wiring the same Carpenters are working by the score and at the present rate of speed the structure will be soon completed, and Sonoma will have another hotel that our townsmen may well feel proud. Do not overlook the fact The Eldorado is now open for business on the Spain Street enterance, although the part fronting First West is not yet completed.

Races in Santa Rosa

Throughout Northern California there is much enthuisasm over the automobile races to be held in Santa Rosa tomorrow and next day.

"Dare Devil" Graves, the champion rider on a motor cycle will ride two exhibition races on the Santa Rosa race track. Among the big racers will be found the Stearns, Stevens-Duryea, Pope-Hartford and Pullman cars and there will be hot competition for the prizes to be awarded.

Special rates will be made on the railroads and circulars are now out announcing the same, and the time limit

It is estimated that 4000 people attended the races on the 4th of July at Santa Rosa and it is expected that there will be a much larger number at this meet.

Hundreds from Sonoma Valley will be there.

There can not be much satisfaction in "goin' round and lickin' the editor' when the latter not only makes copy out of the encounter but pictures himself as the hero as well. The following vivid pen picture is taken from the editorial columns of an Iowa journal: "There was a blow, somebody fell. We got up. Turning upon our antagonist, we succeeded in winding his arms around our waist, and by a quick manoeuvre threw him on top of us, bringing our back, at the same time, in contact with the solid bed of the printing press. Then, inserting our nose between his teeth and cleverly entangling his hands in our hair, we had him!"

WEEKLY EXPOSITOR

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY

C. L. NEWMAN

Editor and Proprietor.

Entered at the Sonoma Postoffice as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1909

Our Board of Trustees now have a petition signed by seventy of the taxpayers of this city, requesting them to take the necessary steps toward procuring a sewer system for this city. Let us hope that politics will not enter into this affair in any form and that no member of this honorable board will try to lay the matter on the table until after next election. If they do, we will understand the reason for it and that is, that it might injure them politically. The time is more than ripe now and we voice the sentiment of the majority in requesting immediate attention to this petition.

The band boys are meeting with good success in their endeavors to obtain funds for an instructor and the erection of a band stand in the plaza during the next six months. The merchants are responding readily and it is hoped that within a week they will have obtained the signature of all. These boys are going about this matter with the proper spirit and energy and undoubtedly will succeed. They will give concerts in the plaza twice weekly thoroughout the ensuing six months, and at the end of that time will be able to furnish Sonoma with a band that we may well be proud of. Give them a helping hand.

What's the brand that young man in El Verano has been drinking? Must be pretty strong and burn internally, for a man can not see a fire when no fire exists unless he has been indulging a little too freely in fire water.

It seems that while strolling leasurely down the street and enjoying his long sought vacation Tuesday evening, that this same gent came in contact with a hot breeze, which, apparently came from the interior of the St. Francis, at El Verano Villa, Immediately he set up the cry of fire and boarders and employees of this resort organized immediately in a volunteer fire department. Hose was run out and a bucket brigade was formed. A number of the bravest rushed into the building, up the stairs with their noses protruding like a bloodhound on the track of a fugative, sniffing here and there for the cause of alarm and finally believing they had located it in a certain room, and on entering same all that was found was two ladies sleeping peacefully. Needless to say the fire fighters beat a hasty retreat and have coiled their hose, put away their buckets and now seek the man who had the fire internally instead of seeing fire in the St. Francis.

Sues for Money Due

J. G. Marcy has sued Mary B. Farrell on a mechanic's lien for labor and material alleged to have been furnished for The Oaks near Boyes Hot Springs. The amount of the judgment asked for is $246.62. Mr. Marcy states that he was employed at a stipulated price to do the work and has received only $35 of the sum due. He asks that the property be sold if necessary to force the payment of his claim on same. Attorneys Robert A. Poppe and J. M. Thompson represent the plaintiff.

Death of an Old Citizen

By the death of Mrs. Maria Tate, Saturday morning, September 18th, Sonoma lost its oldest citizen. Mrs. Tate came to Sonoma, with her parents in the year 1846, when a child of four year of age, and has resided here ever since. Her parents came across the plains in the early, history-making days and located in Sonoma valley, and it was here that Mrs. Tate grew into womanhood, married and died at the age of 66 years. She was the mother of two children, both of whom departed this life and beside of whom she was laid at rest in Mountain cemetery. Her husband G. S. Tate survived her, and she also leaves two brothers, George and Joseph Lewis and one sister, Mrs. James Albertson to mourn her loss. The old lady had been a sufferer for a long time with heart trouble, which was the cause of her demise. The funeral services took place Monday from her residence on Spain street was attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Lee, of the Methodist church. May her soul rest in peace is the prayer of her many friends who mourn her loss.

The Coming Catholic Fair

The ladies of St. Francis' Church have perfected all arrangements for a grand bazaar to be held at Union Hall. The affair will open on Wednesday evening, September the 29th, and close on the following Monday, October the 4th. For the past few months several needed improvements have been made in the parochial house and the church has received a new coat of paint. As a consequence much expense has been incurred. To procure funds to meet this expense, the Fair will be held. The ladies are very enthusiastic in their efforts to make it a financial success and are engaged in a friendly and good natured rivalry to make the best showing for their respective booths. As an inducement to their friends and patrons to pay them a visit, they have arranged an excellent program for each evening and secured fine talent. The opening night will be in the hands of the ladies of the "American Booth." On Thursday night the Sisters' booth will entertain. On Friday night the ladies of St. Francis booth have many surprises in store for the visitors. While the great feature of the Fair will be a grand performance given on Saturday night by the local ministrels under the direction of Messrs. Ranald McDonell and Jack Kelly, assisted by well known talent from Santa Rosa. The local boys will have some jokes to crack, some hits to make and the latest comic songs to sing. Admission to the hall on each evening will be 25 cents. The ladies extend a cordial invitation to all the people of the valley to pay a visit to the Fair and contribute to a worthy cause. The booths will be in charge of the following ladies:

Railroad Extension

Upon the return of President A. H Payson, to San Francisco, from a tour of inspection of the Northwestern Pacific railroad he gave out some additional facts regarding the proposed extension of the road from Willits to Pepperwood in an interview.

Work will be commenced as early in the spring as the weather will permit, he said, and rushed to completion. Although but $2,000,000 had been appropriated, while the extension of 105 miles would cost about $8,000,000, the money needed could be depended upon when wanted, he declared.

The first appropriation for construction work will carry it well over into 1911. Several thousand men will be put at work as early in the spring as possible, while some work that can be done will be taken up this fall. President Payson refused to give any indication regarding the proposed route or the right of way to be used.

THE BADGE OF HONESTY

The above illustration represents the several native medicinal plants which enter into Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Stands Alone The one and only medicine for the cure of women's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, the ingredients of which are printed and placed upon every bottle wrapper leaving the great laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., where it is made, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Stands Alone Not only in respect to its known composition, but also as the only specific advertised remedy for women's diseases which absolutely contains no alcohol.

It Stands Alone As the one medicine for women, the makers of which take their patients fully into their confidence and tell them exactly what they are taking. This Dr. Pierce can afford to do because his "Favorite Prescription" is made of such ingredients, and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit—thus placing its merits above criticism.

It Stands Alone As nature's cure for the diseases peculiar to women, and is composed of Golden Seal root, Blue Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Black Cohosh root, Lady's Slipper root and chemically pure glycerine of proper strength, to extract and preserve the medicinal principles residing in the roots employed, for any length of time in any climate. It is scientifically prepared by experienced chemists and pharmacists at the laboratory of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

In the early sixties it was usually the duty of a practicing physician to ride many miles every day on his regular round of visits upon his patients. In those days a young man who had received a careful medical training in one of the best colleges of that day was accustomed to ride ten, twenty and often thirty miles or more, visiting the sick and afflicted. His success was soon phenomenal. Doctors and families called him for consultation to towns at considerable distances by rail. He became especially noted in the cure of obstinate and distressing diseases of women. He had early discovered that by combining the extracts of certain native medicinal plants in just the right proportion, without the use of alcohol, his "Prescription" almost invariably cured such cases. Later, in order to place this remedy before the public in a shape easily to be procured, he established a laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., where regularly qualified chemists and pharmacists were put in charge to accurately prepare his "Prescription" and put it in shape for shipment. This remedy, which he named Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, is not a "patent medicine," but is a real prescription of a real physician in a real practice, and hence the name.

Pierce's Pleasant Pellets These tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules regulate Stomach, Liver and Bowels, cure Constipation and Bad Stomach, attended by foul breath. One or two for a laxative, three or four for a cathartic.

This great family Doctor Book FREE on receipt of 21 one-cent postage stamps to cover cost of mailing only; or, in fine cloth binding 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

MR. BAXTER'S ROBBER

By EDMUND COMPTON.

[Copyright, 1899, by American Press Association.]

Mr. Benjamin Baxter never forgot that in college he had been the right (football) tackle of his time and had pulled stroke oar in the first university race in which his college had beaten after a long series of defeats. When, as a middle aged man with a bald head and somewhat pursy stomach, he visited Europe he maintained that if any sneak thief, robber or bandit could get away with him he was welcome to do so. This did not satisfy Mrs. Baxter, who dreaded that, in Italy especially, her husband might be kidnaped and held for a ransom.

Mr. Baxter had heard that one of the principal sights of Rome was a visit to the Coliseum by moonlight. One evening while in the Eternal City, when the queen of night was at the full, he proposed to his wife that they go and view the ruin thus illuminated. Mrs. Baxter refused. But he persisted.

Leaving his hotel on the Esqualine hill, he strolled down a broad thoroughfare and soon stood on a height overlooking the eastern end of the enormous theater of the Caesars. He was surprised to note how immense it looked under the different light. The great pile, or the remaining two-thirds of it, built by slaves 1,900 years ago, where gladiators had fought and Christians had been torn to pieces by wild beasts, rose against the sky like the dark silhouette of a mountain. Going around to the entrance, Mr. Baxter went within the walls and saw another sight—the moonlight throwing the upper portions of the interior into contrast with the shadowy lower parts. Many visitors were there, but as the hour was late they gradually departed.

Suddenly Mr. Baxter found himself alone. To go out through the main entrance was to increase the distance to his hotel. There were openings all around the oval, but not lighted. Nevertheless the fearless American concluded to make his exit by one of them. It was very dark under the archway through which he passed, especially since that at that moment a cloud rolled over the moon. Suddenly he felt some one brush by him and a cloth fly against his face. He had heard that the members of the International League of Pickpockets were then working Rome and were used to covering their victims' faces with a newspaper when robbing them, and it flashed upon Mr. Baxter that he was suffering robbery. Clapping his hand to his pocket, he missed the portemonnaie he usually carried there. Throwing his arms around the person who had passed him, he dragged him back into the arena. There he found that he held a priest.

"Ah, ha!" he cried. "So you thieves resort to the priestly dress to commit your depredations. But you can't fool an American. I'll get my money back or I'll break your back over one of these stone walls."

Then came a volley of words like an explosion of a Gatling gun, but since Mr. Baxter knew only two Italian words, "dove sta" (where is), they produced no effect upon him. He felt all over the man's body to find his portemonnaie, but found only 10 centessimi, or 2 cents. Then, after giving the fellow his opinion of him (in English), telling him that he had been very dexterous in passing his plunder to a dark figure whose footsteps were to be heard running away, Mr. Baxter remembered that, after all, there were only a few five lire bills in the portemonnaie. So he gave the thief a sound drubbing and a final kick and started out of the ruin quite pleased that he had lost none of his youthful strength or courage. The only fear he felt was at a possibility of having to appear in court against the robber. On arriving at his hotel he told his adventure to his wife.

"Why, my dear," said that lady, "I have your pocketbook locked in the trunk."

Thereupon Mrs. Baxter unlocked the trunk and took out the pocketbook.

"Well," said Baxter meditatively, "I downed him anyway."

There was a sharp rap at the door. Opening it, there stood two of the national police in swallowtail coats, white cord aiguillettes, cocked (Napoleon) hats and swords. Any one could see by the serious expression of their countenances that the dignity of the Italian realm had been offended. Behind them stood a delicate, intellectual looking priest, wiping scratches on his face and forehead with a bloody handkerchief.

Mr. Baxter, marching between the officers of the law, was taken to the police office, where, summoning his Italian vocabulary, he kept repeating:

"Dove sta the Americano consulato?"

His plea was finally heard, and he was permitted to write a line to the consul, who came, but whose influence availed nothing but to secure for the American who had maltreated an inoffensive priest a fair trial. Baxter was locked up.

The next morning before the time arrived for calling the case the consul visited the priest who had been assailed, and who proved to be a man of influence. The matter was explained to the ecclesiastic, who listened attentively. When the consul had finished, the injured party said:

"Signore Baxter comes from a land where there are a great many devoted sons of the church. Whether your explanation is correct or not I do not know, but if the matter was a mistake I excuse it; if it was a wanton attack I forgive it."

A cab containing the consul and the priest soon after drove up to the law courts, and Mr. Baxter was released.

A Burnt Child

dreads the fire. The dread is wholesome, but not the burn; that can be healed and instantly relieved by applying Ballard's Snow Liniment. Be prepared for accidents by keeping a bottle always in the house. Best for sprains, bruises, cuts, scalds rheumatism, neuralgia, bunions—any and all aches and pains. Price 25c, 50c and $1 00. Sold by L. S Simmons.

Courts Have No Jurisdiction Over Foreign Ambassadors.

The chief of an embassy is an august being and one who boasts some remarkable privileges. It may be mentioned to begin with that in the land in which he is officiating an ambassador ranks immediately after the princes of the blood royal.

The ground on which an embassy stands is in theory as well as in practice the territory of the nation to which its principal occupant belongs. Even if a criminal were harbored in an embassy the police could not enter the premises without permission.

An ambassador is above the law of the country to which he is accredited. The courts have no jurisdiction over him, and, strangely enough, his subordinates and even his domestic servants are also inviolate. The humblest employee in the embassy if he committed a punishable offense could not be arrested without the consent of his master, nor can an embassy official be imprisoned for debt.

Ambassadors are to be envied most of all perhaps for their freedom from the burden of taxation. They disburse not one penny in taxes, either directly or indirectly, and, as for the custom house, it is nonexistent so far as they are concerned. No duty whatever is charged in respect of wines, cigars, cigarettes, etc., that are consigned to them.

Again, their excellencies need not bother about taxes unless they please. That they do so is purely an act of grace on their part. They are not legally exempt from these tantalizing demands on the purse, but if they declined to meet them there would be no means of enforcing payment.—Cassell's Journal.

Gambling

your life against 25 cents is just exactly what you are doing if you neglect a cough or cold on the chest instead of treating it with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. A 25 cent bottle of this splendid remedy will cure an ordinary cough, heal the lungs and act as a tonic for your entire system. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Cutting.

Lord Chatham said of the members of Lord North's cabinet, "They have brought themselves where ordinary inability never arrives and nothing but first rate geniuses in incapacity can reach."

None is secure from desperation; few from subtlety.—Byron.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

One Trouble Less.

"I have had indigestion all day," complained the man with the bay window to the poet. "Do you ever suffer from indigestion?"

"Indigestion is largely due to eating, isn't it?" asked the poet wistfully.

"Yes," said the bay windowed man.

"No," said the poet, "I never have it."—New York Press.

Rubbing It In.

"Yes, I was fined $500 for putting coloring matter in artificial butter."

"Well, didn't you deserve it?"

"Perhaps. But what made me mad was that the judge who imposed the fine had dyed whiskers."—Cleveland Leader.

Hoppity Hop.

Are you barely getting around with the aid of crutches or a cane? Another Knock.

"Hotel clerks are cold hearted," sighed the shabby tragedian, who was traveling with a toothbrush and a compass.

"Speaking from experience, pal?" asked his barnstorming chum.

"Sure! I approached the clerk of the Red Dog inn and told him actors deserved special terms."

"Ah, indeed! And what did he say?"

"He said yes, they deserved six month terms in the county workhouse."—Chicago News.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Sold by all dealers.

Old Time Salutations.

It was the custom in France in the seventeenth century to kiss a lady when saluting her and continued in common usage in England for a hundred years later. Royal salutations in France required extreme formality. One saluted the bed on entering the royal bedchamber, and in approaching the apartments of the king all head covering, the skullcap of priests included, had to be removed. In saluting queens and princesses one kissed the hem of the robe.

A Burglar in Town

his name is bad cough. He doesn't care for gold and silver but he will steal your cough away. If he appears at your house arrest him at once with Ballard's Horehound Syrup, it may mean consumption if you don't. A cure for all coughs, colds and chest troubles. Price 25c 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

New York's Working Girls.

Before the great arc lights have begun to fizz and glow processions of work girls, of shopgirls, of professional girls, have passed up and down this great avenue of the city, which in variety of interest and in claims to one's attention forms a strong rival to the Paris boulevards.

These young women are typical of New York and indeed of the whole American continent. In independence, in fearlessness, in ability to act and think for themselves, they are clearly daughters of the new world, but in the taste and elegance of their clothes there is something of the Parisian spirit, of that peculiar faculty for combining colors and blending effects which is certainly the heritage of the "ouvriere" and yet seems by some mysterious means to have become wafted across the broad bosom of the Atlantic. You feel an atmosphere of well being, of solid contentment, prosperity and self esteem about the common people in the States. This is typified by these well gowned, bright and pleasing young women who carry out so large a part of the daily routine of Uncle Sam. You see no dejected countenances. Why be dejected when you have the chance or at least the sweet illusion of being one day called to the highest destinies of the country?—Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

Don't waste your money buying plasters when you can get a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment for twenty-five cents. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment is superior to any plaster for lame back, pains in the side and chest, and much cheaper. Sold by all dealers.

Take Life Like a Man.

It is a pitiable thing to see a young man whining over his lot in life and excusing indifference and inaction because of hard luck or some cruel fate which has put stumbling blocks in his way.

No matter what your environment or what you may be called upon to go through, face life like a man, without whining. Turn your face to the sun, your back to the shadows, and look the world in the face without wincing. Make the most of your situation. See the beauties in it and not the ugly features. This is the way to improve an unfortunate environment.—Success Magazine.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is today the best known medicine in use for the relief and cure of bowel complaints. It cures griping, diarrhoea, dysentery, and should be taken at first unnatural looseness of the bowels. It is equally valuable for children and adults. It always cures. Sold by all dealers,
